

-----
Title: Disposition of Maggy Malone

Author: Maggy Malone
-----

Your Honor,
I am giving my
disposition for the trial of Dharzhal T'Ar, as I can not be at the trial.
I met the accused and I met both his wife and his daughter on separate occasions. As you
know he is accused of
poisoning the waters
in Papua. The first time he came to me he
asked for a room for
himself and his wife.
They stayed at the Lodge for several weeks. They gave me
a container to protect
until they could get
the container to the
person that was sick.
It was an antidote.
The drow was very
concerned that he be
able to get this
antidote to the person
that needed it because he said a man named Thrax had poisoned
someone. He confided
in me at the time
that he had made the
poison under threat to
himself and his family and that was
the reason they had to
hide because he had
stolen the antidote to cure the man that
Thrax had poisoned
with the poison that he had created. His wife on a separate
occasion made the
same concern for her
safety. Also on a separate occasion his

daughter came to me
for a room and she
made the same
statement and a
sincere concern for
her partents and for
her own safety from
this person named
Thrax. The drow
took the antidote from
me when he had
contacted the person
that was ill to get
the antidote to him or
someone that was close to him. I have seen
nothing but sincarity
from this man and
would trust him
with my life should it
come to that.

Maggy Malone